

INFORMATION 2020th

OPEN SYSTEM

population of waste	pile of rubbish
cryo-cyl	the contractually stipulated freezing of dead bodies to an unknown time in the future was invented in 1972 by alcor life extension foundation. even though the method of cryonics is regarded with scepticism the continuous and fast growing cell science is willing to extend life's.
backpacking	nomad lifestyle of backpacking tourists around the world.
brexit	result of the 2016 united kingdom european union membership referendum to leave the european union.

MEDIATING MEMBRANE

sofi football stadium, inglewood californian	digital screen in sofi football stadium is an example of human progress which uses newest technology for various ways of showing denotation on screen to represent different symbols. the viewer knows about the inside of different categories because of the visible outside of it. a square house full of video screens is more flexible in denotation to the inside as it could change outside picture after the changing of inside use.
forensic architecture	eyal weizman's system of forensic architecture was made to reconstitute scenes of past human interactions by collecting specific data of the incidents surrounding conditions.
smart home	the smart home is a phenomena where people use wireless technology to configure different sections of their household.
interdisciplinary of science	the graphic illustrates the upcoming time of sciences interdisciplinary at a point where different fields of knowledge are often not able to collaborate, elsewhere each discipline tries to find sectional answers for everything but not for each other. human being tries to break those contradictions for the will of finding truth in the combination of well illuminated science and develop holistic view.

UTOPIA

eco-city masdar city, united arabic emirates	construction started in 2006. masdar city was planned as a co-2 neutral eco city for science integrating newest technologies of renewable energy, water supply and mobility.
temporal architecture, brandelhuber anti villa	construction is the ruin of a converted jersey factory at krampnitzlake near potsdam. the construction is an anti-statement to most surrounding buildings. brandlhubers anti villa implements ideas of deconstructivism.
aufbauhaus, moritzplatz berlin	constructed within two sections. first section projected by clarke and kuhn architects finished in 2012, while second section was finished by barkow and leibinger architects in 2015. both buildings include various space for living, working and shopping. the modular approach of this urban designed complex continues within the buildings rooms, which can be changed in different ways.
ravensburger spieleland	amusement park opened in 1998 mainly addressed for parents with children. park is constantly extending since 1998 and attracts thousands of visitors. ravensburger company uses its fun park for product placement.

MEGASTRUCTURE

vertical village, aristide antonas	in his visualisations, antonas combines elements of deconstructivism, social architecture and naturalism to create vertical villages.
computer chip	device to safe and connect digital technology, where megastructure appears on its surface. infrastructure occurs through connection of multitude computer chips.
trade war	trade war between us and chinese government after many decades of extremely strong rising chinese economy.
internet	internet as one of the big engines for innovation and main hub of information exchange.

ASSEMBLED NATURE

space capsule	idea to find expand human environment on another plant.
energieberg hamburg	the hamburg example illustrates that new technologies as offshore wind parks can find consideration in reshaping design techniques of landscape architecture.
neil harbisson, cyborg	the avant-garde activist from new york city is first human being on earth with an implanted antenna in his head. he was first cyborg acknowledged by a government and fights for rights of cyborgs with his cyborg foundation.
black hole	hawkins explored and proved black hole theory throws new perspectives on human beings fragmentation on earth and expanded knowledge about space expansion.

REVOLUTION

fridays for future	greta thunberg as head of the fridays for future climate protests.
belvedere - campus de belval	inessa hanschs campus de belval in esch-sur-alzette is a new campus of science by université du luxembourg built inside construction structures of an old steel mill in south of luxemburg. the skeletal structure of the building reminds to neobrutalist ideas, which are modern in french speaking area throughout this years. architect gets supplemented by landscape architectural add itions.
olafur eliasson, the weather project	the weather project was temporary art by olafur eliasson in the turbine hall at tate modern london in 2003. the site-specific installation employed a semi circular screen, a ceiling of mirrors, and artificial mist to create the illusion of a sun. (https://olafureliasson.net/archive/artwork/wek101003/the-weather-project)
covid-19 pandemic	person wearing mask. phenomena of 2020. hope as strong effect in hopeless period of being.